

HIST 2020
Joi Jackson

Civil Rights

A lot of my family have had to fight for civil rights

My grandfather marched

My mother spoke out

My uncle didn't do a god damn thing but he was there.

After being in this class I realized that civil rights is not a thing of the past

It's on going.

As an activist, I realized that my legacy is one that is growing

I will not apologize for being loud or proud

I will not sit down or pipe down

I will invoke the rawness of Eli Malik Shabazz and the power of Huey P Newton,

And continue to pump my fist in the air

"HIST 2020" at first I didn't care

But this class has helped me keep my head in the air

That there is hope to be had because history keeps shifting

Thank you so very much for listening
